Telespanol Feature Starts Next Week

Manana is the word.

Manana is the Spanish word for tomorrow — or next week, or sometime.

We won't be quite so indefinite. With us it means next week.

Next week is when we start Telespanol — our new class in Spanish in the columns of this newspaper. It's an old, respected language but taught with an extremely modern twist.

Here's how it works: A short lesson in Spanish will be published each week but it will be devoid of the lengthly, tiresome phonetic explanation.

Instead, the reader calls a special number listed in the lesson and a tape recorder will repeat the week's lesson.

The two minute message leads him through the entire lesson and he has the correct pronunciation of the words and sentences.

Developer of the system is James Hardison, San Diego City Schools Spanish Instructor.

In Telespanol (that's what Hardison calls his course) the recorded lesson is exactly the same as the one printed in the newspaper each week. The reader may call again and again if the pronunciation of some word or phrase that eludes him. Each week there is an entirely new lesson and a new telephonic recording.

There is no cost involved in Telespanol. There are no books to buy or extra lessons to acquire.

Telespanol, other editors have reported, is fun — and educational.

'American Message' Delivered By L.G. Foreign Language Teacher

by John Strub

(Mr. Strub is a foreign language teacher at Palm Aveue Junior High School in Lemon Grove)

We helped get "the American message" across this summer in Mexico.

When we arrived in Morelia, Michoacan, Mexico early this summer, students were swarming the streets and plaza shouting "Yankee go home" and 'Vietnam."

"We" were 54 American teachers who had been selected as part of the National Defense Education Act Institute for elementary school teachers in Spanish and assigned to Morelia, a university city of 100,000 population.

By the time we returned home we had given a much better impression of the United States to the middle-of-th-road students in Mexico.

I was fortunate to live in a private home where poverty forced the family to take in boarders. Charles Groat, a teacher from Santa Rosa shared a room with me. This was a break because several students were also boarders there. They appeared quite surprised that 'Gringos" ate and enjoyed beans and tortillas without fussing about the lack of meat on the table.

The students spent a great part of their time talking politics and international relations. Soon a spirit of amicability developed and later they told me that they became impressed with my honesty and candidness in answering questions concerning the dilemma of U. S. policy in Vietnam.

What really surprised them most was the attitude of the opposition when the Republicans in Congress backed up the Democratic President and his policies in the Far East.

When I told them we could not abandon a country when we are already there because we would not be acting with honor, they nodded in agreement and admitted that it was a point they had overlooked.

Communists have been very active in presenting their view point to the Mexican intelligentcia, or lose the respect of the students.

Almost Miraculous

By the time we were within two weeks of leaving, word had gotten around that American teachers did not drive big cars and did not live like millionairs, the latter image being one Hollywood has impressed upon the minds of the theatre frequenters in Mexico. They also decided that American teachers were not repulsed by fleas and dirt of second and third class buses they used as they traveled about. No longer did we hear shouts of "Yankee, go home" and "Yankee Imperialists." Our antagonists had become our friends.

This proves, beyond doubt, that there is a need for communication and understanding between peoples. This also shows up a need for foreign language in public schools so that communication may be possible.

Citizenship Day – Make it Meaningful

Saturday is Citizenship Day.

For many citizens, the reaction is, "So what."

Which means that you never miss the water till the well runs dry.

Even if you were born an American citizen, you are descended from people were weren't. They became citizens through the difficult processes of immigration and naturalization, except for some who became citizens of the United States by establishing the United States by means of a war.

For those people, citizenship was not a "so-what" proposition. It was one of the most important things in their lives.

"Citizenship means full membership in a country," says World Book Encyclopedia. "A country and its citizens are not really separate.

"Citizenship involves both civic and political rights, as well as civic and political duties. Bills of rights in the United States Constitution and in state constitutions guarantee civic rights to all Americans. A child possesses civic rights, such as the right to worship as he pleases, from the moment he is born.

"In turn, each citizen owes allegiance to his country. It is his civic duty to support his government, obey its laws, and defend his country.

"Democratic government fails unless citizens show the same eagerness to serve their country that they expect the country to show in serving them."

Citizenship Day — first proclaimed by President Truman in 1952 — falls on a Saturday this year . . . a day for golf, for football, for closing the summer cottage, for raking up the first leaves of fall.

But it might be well to stop a moment and think of the people who won for you your citizenship in this "nation of immigrants" — whether they won it with musket and bayonet nearly 200 years ago, or by crossing the Atlantic in a reeking steerage in the 1840's, or by riding on a DC-6 in 1948.

And think, too, of the people who will raise their right hands this Citizenship Day and take the oath of allegiance to the United States — the final step in becoming a naturalized citizen — the oath that begins:

"I hereby declare, on oath, that I absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, or whom or which I have heretofore been a subject or citizen; that I will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance . . ."

In fact, you might even murmur that oath to yourself this Citizenship Day.

What Makes the Gas Price Rise?

What makes the price of gasoline go up and down like a yo-yo?

Certainly it isn't the law of supply and demand because supply and demand pressure can't change so rapidly.

We've seen the price of gasoline go down three cents one day, and a couple of days later rise to a level higher than when the reduction came along.

Try as you will, you'l get no distributor to accept responsibility for the wide fluctuation. Everyone blames someone else.

Not so reticent was an independent dealer.

He was not only vocative, he was vehement. He said that the fast-breaking price changes indulged in by the big gasoline producers usually left a list of bankrupt small operators in its wake.

When a major producer finds itself with a surplus of gasoline it unloads it fast. Rather than increase the capacity of its storage facilities, it peddles the stuff "out the back door" to big independent brokers at a discount. The big independents are in competition with the major producer's own people, but apparently the need for quick disposal of the surplus supersedes the need for loyalty. So it is sold under a "no-name" arrangement and the big independent whacks his price a cent or more.

That's fine for the motorists — and we're for more of that. But what else happens? The major station near the independent sees a big sign with a new low price so he gets panicky and cuts his price to meet competition.

On the other corner (and filling stations are on all four corners, these days) a competitor sees what's going on and down go his prices. Soon it is areawise. Big independents can stand the heat. So can some of the thriving major producer stations. But the guy who pumps 20,000 gallons a month or less soon finds that he hasn't the money to pay his gas bill. He originally took $2,000, his life savings, to buy a load of major gasoline when he started his business life. He borrowed operating capital to keep going. During his year or two in the business he has just barely made a living and this by working 16-18 hours a day. When the "war" is protracted, he goes under!

Highway Patrol's Duty: To Prevent Accidents

Walter Chandler, co-ordinator of planning and training for the Unified San Diego County Civil Defense Disaster Organization, will be guest speaker Friday at the Lemon Grove Men's Club's noon luncheon meeting at the Brunswick Bowlero.

Last week's speaker was California Highway Patrol officer

John Annis

John Annis of Lemon Grove.

Officer Annis said the Highway Patrol's main duty was to enforce rural roads and highways and prevent vehicle accidents.

Following are a few of the questions that were posed by Men's Club members and answered by Officer Annis.

Q. — What choices of action does an officer have when first sighting a violator?

A. — The degree of enforcement action is determined after all elements of the situation are mentally evaluated. Agressive enforcement action may consist of a written citation, written warning or verbal warning. We are required to take agressive enforcement action on every violation we see.

Q — What action is taken when a speeder is doing over 100 miles per hour?

A. — No rule of thumb can be laid down, but in today's traffic congestion, speeds of 100 miles per hour and over are in the area of reckless driving, which is a complete disregard for the safety of others and therefore a jailable offense.

Q. — Of all the infractions, what do you feel is the most hazardous?

A. — Reckless driving. It requires the total disregard for the safety of others. Drunken driving is very dangerous but the operator is not aware because of his alcoholic condition. The reckless driver is aware of his hazard and is making a deliberate attempt to endanger others.

Q. — What about speeders? How do they stack up in the accident rate?

A. — They are a continuing problem. Speeders account for one third of all accidents, and as a result, they get continuing enforcement pressure.

Q. — When do you cite a motorist for speeding? Is there any leeway?

A. — The law is real explicit; leeway, no. You cite a motorist when he exceeds the speed limit.

Q. — What is being done about the motorist whose lights, even when on low beam, blind others?

A. — These equipment violations will be caught up with the inspection program which we are starting. The teams that are currently out are a preliminary measure to the inspection program which will be instituted in California and aimed at all equipment violations.

Q. — Is there a "quota" for traffic officers?

A. — No. The commissioner of the Highway Patrol lays down the enforcement policies and he says patrol the highways, be alert and hold agressive enforcement action on any violation observed.

Q. — Are most motorists cooperative when being stopped?

A. — Yes. No one likes to be stopped, but most realize their error. While they're defensive of their habits, they are not hostile. There are a certain percentage that are defiant. They are the poorer drivers because of their attitudes.

Q. — What are the most common violation involving the hauling of trailers and boats?

Because the attachment of a trailer or boat requires recuded speed, the motorist should constantly remind himself that he is in the 50 miles per hour limit. Equipment because three axle vehicles require additional lights, mirrors and sometimes chains.

Q. — What should you do when a school bus stops?

A. — School busses are painted yellow to cause caution and concern. You are only required to stop when the bus' red lights are flashing. Otherwise, you may pass with caution. The red lights denote the loading and unloading of pupils required to cross the road.

Q. — What about the problem of the slow motorist?

A. — The hazard of the slow motorist is the confusion and frustration caused by his impeding the drivers behind him. There is serious and continuing enforcement of this impeding violation.

Q. — Does the Highway Patrol do anything besides write tickets?

A. — Yes. There are many phases of the Highway Patrol in addition to road enforcement. There is a commercial detail having to do with weights, loading, size and proper use of the highway. We have a school bus inspection program and traffic safety information programs for the military, students, and civic groups. We also participate in civil defense, auto theft investigation, air pollution control and motor carrier programs.

Q. — Do you have any advice to motorists concerning their driving habits?

A. You have to realize driving is a fulltime job. Accidents happen to anyone; no one is exempt. Accident prevention is everyone's job. Drive defensively 100 per cent of the time.

Silver Star Awarded To R. E. Benson

Lt. (j.g.) Richard E. Benson, USN, of Chula Vista was awarded the Silver Star, the nation's third highest combat award, Friday morning in ceremonies at NAAS Ream Field. Rear Admiral R. B. Moore, Commander Fleet Air San Diego, made the presentation.

Lt. (j.g.) Benson, a former Lemon Grove resident and graduate of Mount Miguel High School, was awarded the medal for his actions as pilot of a helicopter involved in a heroic resuce in North Viet Nam. Benson and his crew plucked a downed attack squadron pilot from the midst of encircling North Vietnamese forces and returned him to safety.

He is presently attached to Helicopter Anti - Submarine Squadron Four, home-based at Ream Field in Imeprial Beach. The squadron recently returned to San Diego after a seven-month cruise in the Western Pacific where they saw extensive action in the waters off Viet Nam.

State Funds To Give Raises To Teachers

Most of the $58,000 returned to the Lemon Grove School District by the state will be used for picking up salary increases, the school board indicated Monday night.

The board, operating against a tax-increasing budget in July, had withheld full increases in various teaching categories. Some of these will be restored, Byron Netzley, school superintendent, said Tuesday.

He said a negotiating council will meet next week to discuss the increases. He estimates that 56 teachers drawing minimums, would get about $200 a year more. This would take $11,000 to $12,000 of the 58,000 state income.

Funds from the same source will be used to provide another class for the educationally handicapped, Netzley said. It will be the third such class in the district.

An additional teacher for classes 1, 2 and 3, will be employed to hold the class-load down, he said.

Lions To Collect Funds For Vision Conservation

Local Lions will mark White Cane Days here Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, it was announced by Joe Mitchell, chairman of the event for the Lemon Grove club. Proceeds are used for vision conservation projects.

Members of the Lions club will carry cannisters through the downtown area seeking contributions during the event.

Additional cannisters will be placed in stores and offices for the week beginning Sept. 26, Mitchell said.

Serving on the committee with Mitchell are Cmdr. Jesse Lee, (USN ret.) and Assistant Fire Chief Fred Dixon.

Milan "Bud" Young, club president, said Monday that he expects 100 per cent cooperation from among the club's 49 members.

"The White Cane project has become the biggest one we regularly undertake" Young said. The program originated in 1948.

"In our club we stress sight conservation. After people are blind there isn't a lot we can do for them, he said.

"We supply blind pocket recorders to those who are in need of them." A recorder is actually a small Braille typewriter on which the blind can take notes.

"We have furnished new equipment for the Sight Conservation Clinic in downtown San Diego. This was arranged through Lions member Dr. Cal Nicholl, he said.

One of the regular activities of the local club is providing glasses for Lemon Grove school children who are referred to the committee.

Mitchell said he intended to schedule a meeting at which the members will dine blindfolded.

"They tried it at a club in another town and all the members took an active part in the White Cane project," he said.

Grove Woman Wins Mustang

Mrs. J. de Massias de Bonne, a French countess, who lives at 3511 Citrus St., Lemon Grove, is the winner of a 1966 Mustang.

Mrs. de Bonne's name was drawn from a box several weeks ago and she won a transistor radio and a chance to win the auto.

A similar contest was held at 150 Cornet Stores. During the week-end, at another Cornet opening at Delano, one name was drawn from all of the 150 transistor winners. Mrs. de Bonne's name was drawn.

"The radio and car were the first things I ever won and I'm thrilled," she said.

Mrs. de Bonne was naturalized two years ago.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Colossians 1:21-29

To them God chose to make known how great among the Gentiles are the riches of the glory of this mystery, which is Chrict in you, the hope of glory. (Colossians 1:27, RSV)

Every tree has hidden roots out of which it is growing. Our life also has hidden roots — Christ, who is dwelling in us.

One aspect of the mystry of Christ in us is our willingness to become servents of people, as Jesus Himself was a servant.

Servant is an unpopular word, however. Everybody expects the service of others. Married couples seek divorces because they are not willing to serve each other. Quarrels develop because persons are not willing to help each other. We have difficulties in our churches because we are not willing to be servants one of another.

To be Christlike, we have to reveal the mystery of Christ through a life of willing service. This we offer not only to our families and fellow Christians, but also to those who do no believe in our Lord.

Prayer: O Lord, we thank Thee for Thy service of love. Forgive us that we do not always have love or express it in acts of service. Give us strength to live as Thy servants in our homes, is working places, in the church, so that Thy love may be visable to others. In the Master's name. Amen.

Thought for the day: Our invisable faith must be visible through our actions.

"Anyone who claims to be" in the light and hates his brother is, in fact, still in complete darkness. The man who loves his brother lives and moves in the light, and has no reason to stumble. But the man who hates his brother is shut off from the light and gropes his way in the dark without seeing where he is going. To move in the dark is to move blindfold." —I John 2:9-11 (Phillips)

Memorial Gifts Remember Loved Ones

"The family requests that memorial gifts be sent to the Heart Fund."

With these few words, a "living" memorial is made for a relative, friend or business associate whose life was cut short by heart disease.

"A memorial gift expresses thoughtful respect to the memory of a loved one, condolences to his family and hope that research can halt the horrible toll of human life and suffering caused by heart diseases," says Steve Oberg, memorial chairman of the San Diego County Heart Association.

Veteran's Administration Approves ICS Instruction

More than 200 career-building home study courses offered by International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa., have been approved by the Veteran's Administration under the terms of the new G. I. Bill of Rights, according to James H. Pratt, local ICS representative from Lemon Grove.

Eligible for ICS training under the G. I. Bill are veterans who were discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable, and who served on active duty for 181 days after Jan. 31, 1955.

Members of the armed forces who have served at least two years and are presently on active duty, and veterans who served less than 181 days who were discharged or released because of service-connected disabilities are also eligible.

The first step in applying for G. I. educational benefits is to obtain VA form 21B-1990 from a regional office of the Veteran's Administration. When this form is completed, returned and processed, an applicent receives his Certificate of Eligibility, informing him of the educational benefits to which he is entitled.

"To apply for an ICS course under the G. I. Bill, an applicant must fill out the regular ICS enrollment application and note his Certificate of Eligibility (C) number. Those who have not received their C number still can enroll for the ICS course of their choice and send in their C number when they receive it from VA," said Pratt.

Teenage Meets Bring Squawk

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The Board of Supervisors Tuesday referred to the sheriff's department a petition from 47 persons in Vista La Mesa complaining of the alleged actions of teenagers at the Jack-in-the-Box restaurant at 70th and University.

The petition asks for more police patrols and for a closing of the restauranat at a reasonable hour, that is, 11 p.m.

The supervisors, in their brief discussion and under the impression the location was an isolated county island, said they might investigate obtaining contract service from the San Diego police department. The area is, however, an extension of the unincorporated territory of Lemon Grove.

The petition says, "For a long time this drive-in has been a hangout for a group of juveniles who congregate there almost every evening. (On Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings their number frequently exceeds 100.)

"They do not come there to eat, but in join in noisy, milling groups. Their loud talk, shouting and horseplay has made life miserable for everyone living in the neighborhood.

"These teenagers arrive by car, with motors racing, tires screeching, and brakes squealing, then greet everyone present with much noise and horn blowing.

Many of these juveniles meet at the drive-in, organize into groups, and proceed to drag race down our streets with a deafening noise. Some race repeatedly up and down the street on apparently unmuffled motorcycles."

The petition says that the group sometimes stays as late as 3 p.m. after the restauran closes.

Taxes On Income, Sales Suggested By Cranston

The fiscal crisis in California's schools is going to get worse, State Controller Alan Cranston has warned.

Noting that an unprecedented 66 per cent of local school bond and tax override proposals were voted down last June, the controller said there is only one sure cure:

Drastic reform and reduction of the property tax.

In remarks to the tax committee of the County Supervisors Association of California at the Hotel Coronado, Cranston called for support of his sweeping property tax reform proposal.

This would cut the property tax in half primarily by removing the school districts' power to levy the tax.

Cranston, California's chief tax official, declared his reforms would enhance home rule and improve the quality of education under local authority throughout the state.

Cranston said the $1.5 billion cut in property taxes, which would result under his proposal, should be made up by fairer taxes that relate to an individual's ability to pay — such as the income tax and a graduated sales tax.

Foreign Students Study At Mount Miguel High

The senior class at Mount Miguel High School will again take on an international flavor this year.

For the tenth consecutive year, the school will have as members of its student body, students from foreign countries under the American Field Service program.

The program started locally in the 1958-59 school year when Susanna Ochhi of Argentina spent her senior year with the "Matadors."

This year's foreign contributions are Inci (pronounced Ingee) Otugen, 17, of Istanbul, Turkey; and Claude Petit, 17, of Pontoise, France, a town near Paris.

The girls began classes Monday along with over 2,300 other pupils. They were scheduled into regular senior high classes including civics, U. S. History, English, algebra and student government.

The Mt. Miguel student body has traditionally included the A. F. S. students in a full schedule of academic, social athletic, and student government activities.

Inci, the only child of a Financial Department official in the Turkish government, will live with the Lloyd Plummer family at 3208 Par Dr., Spring Valley. She previously attended an all-girl school in her city.

Inci arrived by plane in New York City and then bussed to California. She likes water activities and is interested in music.

Claude, who has one brother and two sisters, is the daughter of a farmer. She will live with the John F. Stubbs family at 2342 DiFoss St., Lemon Grove.

She came to the United States on the U.S.S. Seven Seas and flew to Los Angeles. Her family hosted an American exchange student this past summer.

Miss Ann Alderson is the girls' advisor at Mount Miguel.

Dr. Evans To Head Research Operations

Dr. David N. Evans, former Spring Valley resident who now lives in Contra Costa County, has been named to head research operations for the State Committee on Public Education.

Dr. Evans, a former teacher and administrator in the San Diego City Unified School District, recently directed a special study evaluating the impact on California Education of National Defense Education Act funds.

He received his doctorate in education this year. Dr. Evans earned both his A. B. and M. A. degrees at San Diego State College.

The DIMMER VIEW

But one of the oddest facts of gasoline life is that most of it comes to San Diego from Los Angeles through a common pipeline. The majors pour in a certain amount at LA and the sister firm draws out an equal amount through the San Diego metering gate. Since gasoline meets a standard it matters little that the fuel poured in by one firm is taken out by another; it's all a bookkeeping procedure.

A little chemical additive in the tank of the truck transport gives the fuel the quality that each gasoline firm advertises so highly. Then it is trucked off to the local service stations.

The small point of this information is that the competition among the major producers is mostly in advertising. The product differs very little. This suggests that pricing is arranged by agreement at top producer level — slough-off of surplus being an exception. In the latter case the majors quickly adjust their price so that the surplus purchaser can't take too many of their patrons.

If the majors control price by agreement rather than by supply and demand, it is fair to assume that the price will be as great as the traffic will bear, and that price will always be more than it would if all majors were truly competitive.

Section 10. SEPARATE YARDS REQUIRED. No yard or other open space provided about any building or structure for the purpose of complying with the requirements of this Ordinance shall be considered as providing a yard or open space for any other building or structure.

The Director of Planning and the Planning Commissioner of the County of San Diego are hereby directed to proceed to make the necessary studies and analyses for the development of a comprehensive zoning plan applicable to the area regulated by this Ordinance and to develop such a comprehensive zoning plan and to hold a public hearing or hearings thereon in accordance with Chapter 4 of Title 7 of the Government Code of the State of California.

Section 15. SEVERABILITY. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this Ordinance is, for any reason, held to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions of this Ordinace, it being hereby expressly declared that this Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase hereof would have been prepared, proposed, adopted, approved, and ratified irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases be declared invalid or unconstitutional.

Section 16. ENFORCEMENT. It shall be the duty of the Director of Building Inspection of the County of San Diego to review all applications for building permits. Each application for a permit to construct a building or structure filed with the Director of Building Inspection of the County of San Diego shall be checked by him for compliance with this Ordinance. Any person, firm or corporation, whether as principal, agent, employee or otherwise, violating any provision of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a period of not more than six (6) months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such person, firm or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for every day during any portion of which any violation of the Ordinance is committed, continued or permitted by such person, firm or corporation, and shall be punishable as herein provided.

Section 18. NUISANCE. All remedies provided for herein shall be cumulative and not exclusive.

Section 19. URGENCY MEASURE. This Ordinance is declared to be an ordinance necessary for immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 3751 of the Elections Code and shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

Development of the area referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance is imminent. A considerable number of property owners have requested that the area be interim zoned to promote orderly growth until such time as regular zoning can be adopted. Studies preparatory to a zoning plan for this area have been started, but the length of time required for completion of the studies, analyses and hearings will make possible the development of land in a manner adverse to the desire of the residents and the welfare of this area, unless the established character and integrity of this area is preserved in the interim between the adoption of this Ordinance and the adoption of a comprehensive zoning plan.

Section 20. EFFECTIVE DATE, EXPIRATION DATE. Golden West Visits GJC

Grossmont College's Griffins will christen their 1966 football season Saturday night when they entertain a brand-new Golden West Junior College eleven.

The Griffins will have the entire 1965 backfield returning along with three lettermen on the offensive line.

Quarterback Wash Walker (160), tailback Rick Blanchard 175),fullback Bill Brown (185) and halfback Ernie Wright (160) were together last year as Bob Rump's Griffins compiled a 4-5 record overall and finished third in the Pacific Southwest Conference.

Ramsey Returns

Linemen returning are end Lou Ramsey (195), an all PSC choice at linebacker; center Bill Klinger (205) and end Jim Coddington (180).

Also returning are letterman defensive end Dean Hluchan (1'5) and a member of the first Griffin squad of 1961, Larry Brown (195). The latter will play one of the defensive end spots.

Other starters on offense are tackles Tony Fares (225) and Ken Patterson (250) and guards Gordon Carlson (200) and Alex Garcia (210).

Fares was an all-Grossmont League choice two years in a row at Grossmont High School. Patterson earned all-Grossmont Loop honors last season at Mount Miguel.

Carlson, a former El Capitan High star, comes to the Griffins from the United States Naval Academy where he played one year.

Garcia is a two-time all-CIF guard from Granite Hills.

Defense

Golden West is the newest junior college in the Orange County District. Orange Coast College, long a powerhouse in the Eastern Conference, was split to form the new school.
